Immigration And Settlement

Prominent Canadians recently returned home from visits to Great Britain have been giving public expression to their views on the subject of immigration to Canada, and one and all have referred to the opportunity which now presents itself to Canada of obtaining thousands of the very best type of British emigrants if only the right policy is adopted by this country, and an energetic effort put forth to direct the steps of these people Canada-ward.

It is universally agreed that some hundreds of thousands of people in the British Isles must migrate annually, and that Canada can obtain the best of these people if they are gone after and looked for in the right way. At the present time, however, the eyes of the majority of those intending British emigration are turned towards Australia and New Zealand, rather than towards Canada, and it is reported that considerable amazement prevails in England and Scotland that Canada should be neglecting such an opportunity of obtaining good settlers when, admittedly, this Dominion is so badly in need of population.

Probably the Federal Government is working out a new and comprehensive immigration policy. At least it is to be hoped so. But in the meantime Canada is losing tens of thousands of new settlers which might be obtained, and it must be realized that every British immigrant to Australia or New Zealand becomes an additional inducement for others to go there, and join friends and relatives rather than come to Canada, just as every one coming here is apt to influence someone else to come.

We have advanced the argument that, so far as the Canada Colonization Association is concerned, it cannot do better work at the present time than to immediately apply its declared policy of "assisting settlers to make good" to those already in this country who are located on land unsuitable for successful agriculture, and actively interest itself in the removal of these farmers to other, and more suitable locations. We adhere to that view, and like wise approve the decision of the Government to grant extra homesteads to men who find they cannot make a success of their present holdings.

But while this work of re-location is being proceeded with, the Government should not neglect the opportunity which is now theirs of encouraging the right type of British emigrants to choose Canada in preference to any and all other countries. Nevertheless, the almost universal opinion seems to be that this opportunity is not being grasped as it ought to be.

Greater care must, however, be exercised in future in the location of immigrants on the land. In the past, with millions of acres of arable lands conveniently near to existing lines of railway, immigrants were located in colonies long distances from means of transportation with the result that they have been, and still are, unable to make a success of farming because of the prohibitive cost of getting their crops to market. They find it useless to raise large crops because the cost of hauling their products to market is greater than the price that can be realized. These settlers may not face starvation, because the land will produce their own food, but they lack ready money and are making no progress.

Such settlers are not active agents in adding to the volume of traffic so sorely needed by our National Railways in order to make that system a financial success. Yet if they had been located nearer those railways, both they themselves and the railways would have benefited and prospered. This is a lesson which should not be lost on our immigration authorities in connection with all future settlements.

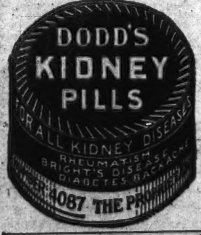

Apart from the excessive cost of getting their crops to market, these farmers in isolated districts have to pay exorbitant prices for all needed supplies, and when it comes to threatening time the cost of securing the services of outfits also operates to destroy profits and to render the cultivation of increased acreages impossible.

In connection with the re-location of present settlers, as well as the location of incoming settlers, every effort should be put forth to populate the vacant lands now reasonably near existing lines of railway. The West needs a more intensive settlement of people within the radius of existing transportation facilities, rather than a further spreading out of scattered settlements.

Cottages Built For Luck
In remote parts of England are still to be seen cottages, with sloping walls. They were built slightly out of the true because of a curious superstition that if a house was built exactly square it was bound to collapse.

There is no poisonous ingredient in Holloway's Corn Remover, and it can be used without danger or injury.

Diplomacy
It was evidently her first visit to the great emporium, and she was noticeably embarrassed.
"I—er—wish to look at some—er—false hair," she stammered.
"Very well, miss," rejoined the diplomatic salesman. "What shade does your friend desire?"

An American View Of Lloyd George

From Ray Stannard Baker's Story of the Peace Conference in Paris

Lloyd George seemed to have no guiding principles whatever. He was powerfully on one side on one day and powerfully on the other the next. He was personally one of the most charming, amiable, engaging figures at Paris, full of Celtic quicksilver, a torrential talker in the conferences, but no one was ever quite sure, having heard him express an unalterable determination on one day, that he would not be unalterable determined some other way on the day following. He was full of sudden bright ideas, he contracted enthusiasm, he had panics and amused or charmed nearly every body with whom he came into personal contact. He had to have his tea every afternoon—and got it—though it overturned the ancient prophecies of that most solemn of institutions, the French Foreign Office, and he had the British passport for fresh air. I saw him one day come bursting out of the hermetically sealed room where the peace conference was sitting in peace secrecy and, throwing up both hands, exclaim:

"I don't believe the air in this room has been changed since the time of Louis Philippe!"

You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Fewer Horses In Ontario

Industry Declines In East, But Is On Increase In West

While the number of horses in all Canada has considerably increased in seven years, there has been a startling decline in Ontario. In all Canada, according to Federal statistics, in 1921 there were 3,813,000 horses, as compared with 904,000 eight years ago. As an offset to the decrease in Ontario, there has been a very large increase in the prairie provinces. Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta have greatly augmented the number of horses in use, Saskatchewan nearly doubling.

The reason given for the decline in Ontario is the general use of motor cars in the places of horses. On the other hand, while the maintenance of horses in winter is an expensive affair in Ontario, it is a comparatively small concern in Western Canada. Owing to the ground being dry and very little dust or soil drift being known in Ontario, the conditions for the running of mechanism is vastly different to the west. Furthermore, belt power is used in other farm operations in Ontario to a greater extent than in the west, and this gives an added value to a tractor on Ontario farms.

The decline in the output of horse-shoes is probably as great relatively in Ontario as in the United States. With motor-cars in general use by Ontario farmers for chopping, attending church and even in carrying milk and cream to the railway, the necessity for taking horses on the road has been greatly lessened—hence the decrease in the trade of horseshoing. Ten years has made a startling difference.

Wheat Movement Breaks Record
History was made on the last day of October in the movement of Western Canada's big wheat crop. The receipts on Winnipeg Grain Exchange that day were the greatest for any one day in the history of the Dominion, the total number of cars inspected being 2,254. The grain is of high quality, less than ten per cent. falling below number three northern, while the greatest volume is number one northern.

A giant fish, measuring 78 feet in length and weighing 15 tons, nearly the equal of five full-grown elephants, was recently washed ashore at Cape May.

Reduced Freight Rates On Grain

Estimated That Fourteen Million Dollars Is Saved to Western Farmers

The closing of navigation, with the consequent longer haul of western wheat for the railways will not have any effect in increasing railway earnings, according to opinions expressed at Ottawa. It was pointed out the greater part of the western grain moves during the two months between threshing and the closing of navigation, and that consequently shipments after the close of shipping on the lakes will be somewhat intermittent. The reduction of the railway rate on grain will have the farmers of the prairie provinces something like $15,000,000, it is estimated, and the reduction in freight rates, without any accompanying reduction in operating costs, was bound to have an effect on the railway net earnings.

Where the railways are benefitting, however, as compared with last year, is in the fact the total grain crop to be moved is considerably in excess of that available last year, and this brings about a greatly increased volume of business for the national roads to share in.

Farm Loans Are Profitable

The annual report of the Manitoba Farm Loans' Association, a Government agency, shows a profit of $40,555 after repaying to the Provincial Government the grant made for organization purposes. The report covers a period of nine months ending August 31st, 1922. The purpose of the association is to assist in the financing of farm undertakings in connection with which it has at present outstanding advances amounting to $7,525,635.

Help Farmers In Taking New Land

Department of Agriculture Issues Certificates Under Settler Removal Scheme

Certificates under the settler removal scheme have been given to thirty-six Southern Alberta farmers who have applied for transportation privileges. The Department of Agriculture is making strict investigation of all cases reported, and out of about 100 applications received to date 100 have already been investigated. A considerable number of the applicants have been held over for the time being for the reason that they have not yet completed satisfactory arrangements for taking up new locations, and some have been definitely refused for this or other reasons.

In all cases thus far approved the settlers are moving to new farms on improved land, usually on the crop payment basis. The Dominion Government's homestead plan, by which southern farmers were to be given the privilege of exchanging their present holdings for new locations on crown land, is not yet in operation, no instructions to that effect having thus far been received by the local Dominion Land Offices.

All the removals now being carried out are therefore on the basis of straight purchase or lease of improved land, the general rule being that land owners in the north are reducing their holdings and turning over portions of them to the buyer or tenants from the south.

It is not expected by the Government officials in charge of the work that the total number of farmers moving to the west will exceed fifty.

Useful in Camp—Explorers, surveyors, prospectors and hunters will find Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil very useful in camp. When the feet and legs are wet and cold it is well to rub them freely with the Oil and the result will be the prevention of pain in the muscles, and should a cut, or contusion, or sprain be sustained, nothing could be better as a dressing or lotion.

Gains 35 Pounds; Rheumatism Is Gone

The wonderful reconstructive powers of Tanlac are again very forcefully demonstrated. In this instance the grateful beneficiary is John H. King, locksmith, living at 229, 14th Ave., West, Calgary, Alberta, who declares: "Tanlac built me up to good health, with a gain of thirty-five pounds in weight, over a year ago and I have been feeling fine ever since. Just after coming back from overseas, about two years ago, I was taken down with an attack of rheumatism that crippled me up so I couldn't work and sent me to a hospital for about ten months.

"During this long siege of rheumatism I lost fifty-five pounds in weight. I was just a shadow of my old self, felt tired out and exhausted all the time.

"Finally I resorted to Tanlac and got back on my feet so quick that it surprised me. By the time I finished the fourth bottle I was feeling a hundred per cent well. I don't believe Tanlac has an equal."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Radium Deposits In Ontario

Radio-Active Ores Located in Vicinity of Pembroke

Dr. W. G. Miller, Provincial geologist, considers it more than probable that traces of radio-active ores may have been found on the Petawawa River, near Pembroke, Ont. But whether or not such ores are of any commercial value is another story altogether.

It is not an unusual thing to make discoveries of this kind. Dr. Miller states, Radium has been reported in Haldimand and Hastings counties, near Perry Sound, and also in Bruce township, but in none of these places were there sufficient quantities to make it an attractive commercial proposition.

INFORMATION FOR RUSSIA

An interested visitor to the department of agriculture at Edmonton the past week was D. N. Borodin, of the Russian Agricultural Bureau in the city of New York, who is travelling through Canada gathering information regarding farming operations and conditions and farming methods for the government of Russia, which is introducing some reforms in connection with farming in that country. Mr. Borodin was greatly interested in the new co-operative seed marketing plan recently inaugurated by the department at Edmonton, as well as the other co-operative schemes already in operation.

THE THINGS THEY SAY

Have you ever considered the numerous officials who are today on the public payroll? It is simply astounding. In federal matters we have besides senators and members of parliament a large host of employees at Ottawa who find it very difficult to put in time. Scattered throughout the four ends of the dominion we have land, timber, coal and mineral inspectors; income tax officials, auditors and collectors; customs excise and inland revenue appointments, etc. In provincial matters we are confronted with another array of public officials who must be paid from current funds, including the lieutenant-governor members of the legislature with a long list of employees engaged in the various departments. Attached to the provincial government we have a host of employees going through the country as inspectors of weights and measures, mines, machine shops, engines, etc., all of them drawing a fat salary and mileage. There is no doubt about it, we are suffering from too much legislation and are overgoverned, and it is time there was a change.

HOME FOR FEEBLE MINDED

Rapid progress is being made on the new home for the feeble minded children just north of Edmonton, and it is expected that the new institution will be ready for occupancy early in the year. There are now two hundred inmates ready to be housed in the new home. Occupational work will be a strong feature of the system of treatment for patients. Dr. W. J. McAllister is to be the superintendent of the home. He is now engaged in special training at the Waverly Institute in Massachusetts.

MAY SETTLE IN ALBERTA

In view of the fact that a large number of British officers will be demobilized from the army in India shortly, and that these men have a small amount of capital and are desirous of securing land in the Overseas Dominions, an effort is being made to interest them in Alberta. Major P. Yeats Brown, one of these officers, is now on a tour of Canada, and was in Alberta the past week, for the purpose of gathering information and investigating conditions.

NEW IRRIGATION PROJECT

Work on the new United Irrigation project near Cardston has been completed, and the project will be in use next spring. The sale of $450,000 of debentures, which brought a premium of $10,000, will likely be sufficient to cover the cost of the project, without the necessity of issuing the further $75,000 at first contemplated. This will make the capital cost of the project about $22 an acre.

HOME VISITORS' FARES TO CENTRAL STATES

Special recognition is given to the former citizens of the United States this winter by the Canadian National Railways in the form of reduced fares to the different cities of the Central Western States. These are called "Homevisitors' Fares." The name is suggestive of the fact that they permit American settlers in Canada to return for a holiday to their old homes.

In addition to those who return for sentimental reasons, there are many who still have business interests in the United States and who take advantage of these special winter fares. In making these low fares the Canadian National Railways has not lost sight of the fact that the benefits accruing therefrom are mutual. The successful settler is recognized to be the best possible colonization agent and those who return home to the Central States to tell of conditions in this country never fail to interest many of their friends. As a result of this year's Homevisitors' Fares, thousands of new settlers are expected to take up their abode in Canada next summer and the good work is bound to continue.

These Homevisitors' tickets will be on sale this year from December 1st to January 31st, 1930, having a final return limit of three months from date of sale. Tickets apply from all Canadian National stations in Alberta, Saskatchewan and points Hudson Bay Junction to The Pas to following cities in Central States: Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth, Milwaukee, Chicago, Des Moines, Council Bluffs, Omaha, Fort Dodge, Sioux City, Watertown, Cedar Rapids, St. Louis, Kansas City, Marshalltown.

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN IS EXTENDED

Dates for the membership enrolment and finance campaign of the Alberta division, Canadian Red Cross, have been extended throughout the province to admit of the canvass being made in those districts where it was impossible to arrange for the campaign during the official membership week. Districts which have not yet been able to organize their enrolment will be allowed until December 15th to complete the drive.

In Calgary the canvassers met with great success. In many cases people were not prepared to join when the workers called, but those citizens invariably called at the local office of the Society in order to join. One man wanted to know what the Red Cross was doing and when the secretary briefly outlined the work to him, he made a $10 donation.

Information received from various sources indicates that although money is scarce, the people of the province are doing their best to support the Red Cross, and there is a very widespread realization of the good work which is being done by the Society.

At Leduc an energetic committee is making an effort to cover the entire district, and good results are expected. Cardston is organizing under the direction of Mr. L. Olson, local secretary of the Red Cross Society, assisted by Mr. A. C. Coombe.

At Raymond, Mrs. Rouse is in charge of the enrolment, with the assistance of Mrs. Gould and Mrs. Blackmore, principal of Raymond school. A successful drive is expected in the Blackfoot district with Mrs. Scott in charge. A committee of prominent citizens is assisting.

COLEMAN'S NEW ARENA HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Coleman's new arena had a very narrow escape from destruction by fire on Monday morning, when some liquid cement being warmed on the stove in the toolshop boiled over and ignited, filling the place with flames in a few seconds. The building contained a large amount of joiners' tools, as well as the rolled roofing for the arena, and the smoke and flames made fire fighting very difficult. An alarm was rung in and in a very few minutes the firemen with their apparatus were on the scene. The smoke had filled the large arena at this time and it was thought the massive structure was doomed to ruin. However, after sprinkling the main building well, the attention of the firemen was directed to the smaller building with great effect.

The loss is rather serious for some of the workmen, as little or no insurance was carried. The main building was not even scorched, though for a time but little hope was entertained for its safety. Had the main building been destroyed, the loss would indeed have been serious, as the building is nearing completion and represented an outlay of approximately $15,000.

LIQUOR WAS "JES TOLABLE"

Roy H. Hubbard, assistant attorney-general of Kansas, was at the end of his patience in questioning a negro says the Kansas City Times, in a bone-dry case at Leavenworth.

"Now, you say," asked Mr. Hubbard, "that this defendant gave you some liquor. What kind of liquor was it?"

"Jes tolabile, sub, jes tolabile," was the reply.

"That answer don't mean anything—what do you mean by 'jes tolabile'?" Hubbard demanded.

"Well, sub," the negro explained, "if that liquor had been any better, he'd be drunk it hisself, and if it'd been any worse, Ah'd nevah been in dis heah court."

"Huh!" she snorted. "I said my patella! That isn't my elbow. My elbow is my great samoid." Father went for a dictionary.

Canadian Business Men And Others Should Visit East And West And Study Conditions

A recent issue of the Canadian Manufacturer contains an article which is of particular interest to every Canadian business man. The editor, who has not seen the west and the westerner who has not seen the east are working under a severe handicap. That the Montreal business men are keenly aware of this fact is indicated in the recent tour of the Montreal Board of Trade to the west, who had, as their guests a number of British industrial men, members of Parliament and financiers. Knowledge is power, and the wisest knowledge is that which is obtained directly by oneself on the ground, heard with one's own ears and seen with one's own eyes.

It is an extraordinary thing—nevertheless a fact—that there are in the east generally many prominent business men who, year after year, go west with the west, yet who have never personally visited it. They make frequent trips to Europe and to the United States, but when it comes to personally visiting the western section of their own country, they "pass it up" in favor of some other trip. The United States slogan "See America First" might well be adapted to "See Canada First" by those business men who can, if they will, see more of their own country. The article referred to is as follows:

If you would build up a national business, you should know Canada. You should understand the difference in the viewpoints of the westerner, from that of the man in Ontario, the man in Quebec, and the man in the Maritime Provinces.

To understand men one should be familiar with the conditions under which they do business. To do this, one must visit the city or town where they do business and get close enough to see in what way conditions are different in one locality from another.

We all know that the needs of a customer in a manufacturing city like Windsor are very far different to the needs of a prairie city like Saskatoon. But to thoroughly understand, and to be in a position to make any damage in these places, the business man should visit these places, and study each one in relation to the product he manufactures.

For instance, how many business men in Canada know what towns are affected by drought in a certain district in the west? How many know what towns should be affected by a great increase in demand for Canadian paper and pulp?

One cannot know his market too intimately; and, as everyone in business in Canada knows, the markets here are great indeed, and the diversity of interests entail serious study to be fully understood.

Apart from the purely business aspect of the matter, however, Canada offers to the tourist a wealth of places worth seeing.

The beauties of the Pacific coast cities and their parks, the Rockies, the Okanagan and other B.C. valleys; the prairies at harvest time, or for that matter, at a time when the crop is in; the drives around Windermere, the Great Lakes, the Muskoka Lakes, the Algonquin Park; the pastoral scenery of Ontario; Niagara Falls, whirlpools and rapids; the Niagara fruit district; the Rideau; the Thousand Islands; the drives around Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal; the Parliament Buildings and the view from Parliament Hill; the St. Lawrence and Saguenay River trips; old Quebec; the hunting and fishing grounds of New Brunswick; the seafaring life along the shores of the Maritime Provinces; pastoral Prince Edward Island; the apple valleys of Nova Scotia; the harbors and beauty spots of St. John and Halifax—and these are only high spots that come readily to mind.

Travel in itself is worth while. The business man should be, and generally is, a good mixer. On this train or boat the good mixer soon meets men and women worth knowing. The consequence is a mental rejuvenation, or brushing up, that is good for any man. One thing is sure, the man who starts out to see Canada is going to come home an enthusiastic believer in his own country and an optimist as to the future of his own business.

The Everywoman's Fund

A Plan for Help to Raise Funds for Assisting Tuberculous Women.

The Everywoman's Fund for caring for one year for fifty tuberculous women in Saskatchewan, is being organized as rapidly as possible. Already, though the provincially organized women have scarcely got their plans laid for letting all the women of the province know of the need for funds for tuberculous work, two Regina clubs have announced their intention of assisting Everywoman's Fund. The ladies aid of the Metropolitan Church, and the Women's Labor League are the two societies who have most promptly come to the aid of the victims of the white plague.

The need for all the help that can be given by the women of the province in helping fight tuberculosis may be guessed at from a single clause in the report of the Royal Commission on Tuberculosis which made its investigation a few months ago:

The present accommodation for the treatment of tuberculous at the Saskatchewan Sanatorium is entirely inadequate to accommodate those sufferers requiring treatment in the province. On November 15th, 1921, at a time when the Sanatorium was full to capacity and a large waiting list outstanding, a questionnaire sent to the physicians of the province revealed the fact that 1,025 patients were receiving treatment in the province.

The Anti-Tuberculosis League is hoping that another provincial sanatorium may shortly be built at Saskatoon, and one in the neighborhood of Regina. But Saskatchewan people are asked to support the work individually as well as through the Government. For this reason the Provincial Council of Women has begun the Everywoman's Fund. Gifts for it may be sent direct to the Sanatorium, Fort Qu'Appelle, or to Mrs. Fred W. Bates, 3068 Angus Street, Regina. Acknowledgment will be made at once.

Canada's Wheat Crop

What It Means in the World's Supply of Breadstuffs

Canada's wheat crop this year is large enough to supply 35,339,736 people with one loaf of bread per diem for a whole year. Statistics show that 348,000,000 bushels of wheat are equivalent to 20,580,000 pounds of wheat, or 10,290,000 tons, or 73,890,000 barrels of flour, which could be made into 12,862,500,000 loaves of bread, weighing 24 ounces each.

Coal For 30,000 Years

Canada has coal enough to last for 30,000 years, according to Dr. Chas. Cammell, Deputy Minister of Mines and Chairman of a Special Committee which has been investigating Canada's fuel resources. The principal coal fields in Canada are in Alberta, which is said to contain fifteen per cent. of the world's total supply, and in British Columbia and Nova Scotia.

Memorial to War Hero

Father of Captain Earl Everts and Endsows Eight Homes in England

Eight homes erected in memory of the late Captain Albert Ball, V.C., D.S.O., M.C., by his father, Alderman Albert Ball, were opened at Nottingham by Lieutenant-Colonel Leslie Wilson, M.P. The following message was read from the King:

"It is fitting that the homes should bear the name of one destined to live pre-eminent among the sons of Nottingham, who, in the great war, as in the days of Charles I, gave their all for King and country."

The homes will be occupied by the mothers or widows of men who fell in the war, and one of the first tenants will be a woman who has lost three sons. Alderman Ball, in addition to giving the houses, has endowed them, and the tenants will receive free coal and light. The capital value of the gift exceeds $20,000.

Champion Swimmers From Inland Towns

Very Few Live in Coast Towns or Villages

It is a rather strange fact that of the multitude who from time to time undertake to swim the English Channel, very few, if any, are dwellers in coastal towns or villages. One would have thought that amongst the men who dwell by the sea and earn their living on the sea, the champion swimmers would be found, but the real fact is that all the swimming champions come from the inland towns. A large percentage of the fishermen cannot swim at all; they never bother to learn because of a centuries-old prejudice. They argue that if they could swim it would only prolong their death agony if they were wrecked miles away from land or the help of other boats.

A Costly Comma

Substituted For Hyphen and U.S. Lost Two Million Dollars

There is a story that the insertion of a comma cost the United States Government the sum of $2,000,000. About forty years ago the United States Congress, in drafting the Tariff Bill, enumerated in one section the articles to be admitted on the free list. Amongst these were "all foreign fruit-plants." The copying clerk, in his superior wisdom, omitted the hyphen, and inserted a comma after "fruit," so that the clause read "all foreign fruit, plants, etc." The mistake could not be rectified for about a year, and during this time all oranges, lemons, bananas, grapes and other foreign fruits were admitted free of duty, with a loss to the Government of at least $2,000,000 for that year.

Primitive Post Office

Vessels on India Route Buried Letters Under Stones

In the earlier portion of the 19th century when the vessels of the Indian Company called at Capetown, Table Bay and other places on their way to India, the officers of the vessels buried letters and despatches under peculiarly shaped flat stones which had the vessel's name engraved on them. These stones were eagerly sought for by homeward bound craft, whose passengers were anxious for news of those stirring days, and it is interesting to note that one of these stones, with the date and name of the ship still legible, is preserved in the vestibule of the present Capetown Post Office.

Homesteader Holds Record

Man of 83 Years Just Completed Homestead Duties in Saskatchewan

Holding the unique record of taking up a homestead on the western prairies at the age of 80, of carrying out all the required development work unaided, and of getting title to the land at 83, Hugh A. Sharon visited Regina recently. For half a century he had labored in Ontario at the time of Confederation and before. Then when he reached the age of 60, the wanderlust seized him and he came to Saskatchewan where he filed on a homestead.

Women Entering Profession

McGill University's first woman dental student has been enrolled in the person of Miss Florence Johnston, of Montreal. In 1911, the first woman student was admitted to the study of law at the university, and at the present time there are four girls taking the medical course.

There are today 250,000 professional begging letter writers in England.

Germany Developing Production of Silk

Aiming to Duly Compete in Markets of World

A vigorous attempt is to be made to make Germany one of the greatest silk-producing countries of the world. It was Frederick the Great who first tried to develop silk production in the Prussian, and the hundreds of mulberry trees which he imported and planted are still living today. The effort languished, however, and it was not till halfway through the last war that it was revived.

In 1916 a group of German women started a movement to encourage silk growing as work especially fitted for disabled soldiers. A "Women's Silk-growing Club" was formed, and large numbers of mulberry trees were imported and planted in various parts of the country.

The club was soon able to hold an exhibition of all-german silk—suitable for 18 ladies' dresses. The movement flourished for a time and it was found that German cocoons were much bigger than those of other countries because the climate does not, in general, fluctuate so much.

It was eventually found very difficult to keep the effort going, but experts have now taken the matter out of economic motives. The scarcity of raw material is a serious business for the country, and in their search for new sources of supply the experts have discovered that it would not be difficult to make Germany one of the most important silk-producing countries in the world.

So special societies have been formed to take over and carry on the work of the "Women's Silk-growing Club," and they are hopeful of early and important results which will lead the way to the freeing of the German silk industry from the necessity of importing raw material. It is hoped that large quantities of all-german silk will be on the market early next year.

The big dry farms are interested in the venture, and it is believed that co-operation with the dry interests will lead to the production of beautiful silks which will defy competition in the markets of the world.

Tonnage Sunk By Germans

With time at his command to make a careful investigation, and the disposition to delve into statistics, Dr. Christian Siegfried, Toebes-Mittler, a German publicist, has announced that a total of 15,000,000 tons of enemy mercantile shipping was sunk by German submarines during the war. Of this aggregate, he says, 14,300,000 tons went down during the "unrestricted" campaign, beginning on Feb. 1, 1917, including 12,300,000 tons in English ships.

Deferred Loan

Spender.—You couldn't let me have ten dollars till next week, could you?

Lender.—No, not until then, anyway.—Judge.

At one time whenever we saw cretaceous we always associated it with "inferior decorative art." It would look as curious or as charming for our furniture, but now things are different. It now decorates the exterior of buildings. Nothing is more picturesque than a garden rock of cretaceous. Here is a photograph of one that is very charming.

For Control of Radio

Western Telephone Officials Recommend Licensing System

Seeking control of radio telephony, executives of the western provinces government telephone systems will recommend, through the Ministers of Telephones to their respective legislatures, the transfer of authority from the Federal to Provincial Government of the enforcement of the Radio Telegraph Act dealing with radio telephony.

The recommendations of the Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta Government telephone systems are identical and the recommendations ask for authority to be vested in the Minister of Telephones for the issues of licensing for transmitting or receiving stations for radio telephony. States would be licensed by the Provincial Governments and 60 per cent. of the license fee would go to the Dominion Government.

Restrictions of the forwarding of commercial messages by broadcasting stations and that no commercial license be granted except under charter issued by the Provincial government concerned, is favored by the executive of the three government telephone services.

The Scrap Book

Should Make a Place for Itself in Every Home

Scrap-books seem to have gone out of fashion, along with the family photograph album, autograph books, photo-cards and booklets, and several other domestic institutions without which our grandmothers would have regarded their establishments as but imperfectly appointed. Of them all scrap-books have the greatest claim on continued recognition. They fill a need which nothing else can fill so well. They place the individual in possession of a cumulative encyclopedia of information which appeals especially to him or her, which can be brought to date with a minimum of labor and expense.

The modern newspaper and weekly and monthly periodicals are necessarily made up to appeal to the widest possible circle of readers. They contain much that appeals to the public generally and much that appeals to certain classes or groups of readers. The mass of reading matter that appears in the daily press is of merely ephemeral interest and consequently not worth preserving. There is a great deal, however, which is worth saving. The same thing applies to the contents of other periodicals. A scrap-book enables the reader to preserve in convenient and accessible form what is worth keeping, while discarding the rest of the paper or magazine. Whether it is the father of the house collecting articles on politics or sports, or the mother pasting up recipes which she has tried and found worth while, or preserving hints on health which she may require to apply to her children in a sudden emergency, a scrap-book will soon make a place for itself in the home which those who have acquired the scrap-book habit will be loath to deny it.—Regina Leader.

Substitute For Gasoline

"Springbok" Motor Spirit Is Name of New Invention

The prickley pear may force down the price of gasoline and prevent the "growth" of many stick, dividend "melons" by the big oil companies.

In far away South Africa, the Department of Commerce has found that a gasoline substitute, made from prickley pear juice mixed with other chemicals, had shown remarkable results. It is known as "springbok" motor spirit. It can be retailed for half the price of gasoline; has averaged 23.6 miles per gallon in cylinder cars and tankers, starts easily in cold weather. The substitute was invented by A. C. Devillieres an attorney, and a company has been formed to manufacture it. The formula is kept in a closely guarded secret.

Great Britain's Policy

Sir William Schelling, the British economist, has said that "Great Britain's policy of paying her debts and forgiving her debtors" will eventually place her in a far sounder position than a country which declines, for one reason or another, to recognize and pay its indebtedness. That is a fine saying, the truth of which the United States seems to dispute.

New Italian airship will have an electrically operated kitchen capable of providing meals for 100 passengers.

The Canadian prairies, from the existing volume of less than the high quality of their agricultural products, have achieved such world renown that the question of the fertility of the soil, climate and other factors entering into profitable farming are beyond questionable possession. There are sometimes contemplating settlers, however, who, whilst realizing the peculiar advantages farming on prairie land has from certain points of view, entertain definite objections to living upon vast, sweeping, unbroken plains, horizon bound, devoid of shade or shelter. These objections would be justified did the Canadian prairies present such a bare, unattractive aspect, but such is no longer the case.

With the great trek to the Canadian west was first well under way, the Canadian Government proved to its own entire satisfaction that, for whatever reason free trees were found to be naturally growing on the prairie land, it was not to be accounted for by the inability of these lands to produce and support substantial forest growth. Being satisfied to this extent, in the interest of better and more economic farming, in the fostering of an attractive living condition, and the promotion of a spirit of content and an appreciation of the beautiful in the farming population, it inaugurated a campaign of tree-planting, at no expense to the farmer, save his own labor in planting and subsequent care.

The establishment of a 450-acre nursery by the Government at Indian Head was closely followed by a similar establishment by the Canadian Pacific Railway at Wolseley, in the same province, which organization also took extensive distribution. About five thousand farmers per year, in the three provinces, who have made application, have been satisfied. The principal varieties of trees sent out have been Russian poplar, willow and caragana, species to which the prairie soil and climate are especially adapted. In the past twenty-one years, the Canadian Government has distributed 60,418,000 seedlings and cuttings, or about 3,000,000 annually.

In the time which has elapsed since the initial work was done, the Canadian prairies have undergone a gradual transformation. Beautiful green rows of thriving trees surround many prairie farm homes, imparting shade in summer, giving shelter in winter to farm stock, having an ameliorating influence upon the living conditions within the homes, and forming a beautiful and healthy beauty to the landscape. Their economic value must not be underestimated. It is figured that the Government's work has resulted in the establishment of 40,000 shelter belts on the prairies which are valued by their farm owners at from $500 to $5,000 each, with an average value of about $1,000.

Thankoffering For Hospitals

English Nobleman's Gift For People Who Cannot Pay

Lord Barnby, of Hylth Hall, Nottingham, head of Francis Willey and Co., Ltd., wool merchants, of Bradford, England, who has returned to business following an operation, has rewarded in this way the Lord Mayor of Bradford a cheque of $25,000 for division as follows: Bradford Royal Infirmary, $3,000; Bradford Eye and Ear Hospital and Bradford Children's Hospital, $2,000 each. He wrote that he fully realized that many who might need a similar operation had not sufficient money to pay for it, and he hoped his thankoffering would result in the alleviation of suffering in Bradford.

Pedestrians Safer In Heavy Traffic

Only Ten Fatal Accidents in London During Year

To say that the heavier traffic and the busier the thoroughfare the safer it is for pedestrians, might cause a laugh, although referring to the statistics in this respect of the city of London. It is noticeable that there were only ten fatal accidents last year in that large metropolis in spite of all the mass of traffic. Hospital accidents totaled two per day. It was almost as if the city were protected by a "magic circle." "Safety first," however, is an old motto worn threadbare by constant practice in the Old Country.—Montreal Gazette.

On the basis of 10 hours' operation a day and night, the truth of the United States every hour in 1921, a total of more than 12,000 during the year.

A Wilson was run over by a car at the Big Rock in the Elbow on Sunday afternoon. The driver of the Ford was really to blame and when accused of holding the wrong side of the road did not blowing his horn. He replied in very much broken English to this effect: "Yes, sir, I blow—no, show you!" May be the fellow had a model on that Ford for registering the blow of the horn.

"I Was Run Down"

"Body was completely covered with Boils"

"If you have ever had boils, you know how painful and annoying even one or two can be. But imagine having your whole body almost entirely covered with them! I am a workman by trade, making a specialty of repairing the highest grade movements. This is probably the most trying of any mechanical work, particularly for a nervous individual like me. Working under great strain both day and night for three months, brought me almost to a state of collapse. I was so irritable and nervous that the slightest thing would send me up in the air. If I managed to get a few hours of sleep at night I was lucky. I had no appetite for food. I certainly was miserable. During this time boils began to appear on different parts of my body and the pain from them made life a misery. My suffering was so great at times that if I felt there was nothing left for me to do but to end it all. I consulted doctors but they all told me that if I didn't give up my work and live out of doors, I would go into decline. As I had no money I couldn't do this. In fact paying doctors' bills and buying medicines ruined up all the money I made. Finally in desperation, I decided that I would either kill or cure myself, so I began to study my case. I realized that I was completely run down as any one could possibly be with a bad case of nerves. What I needed was building up. After reading descriptions of different preparations, the one which appeared to be the best for me was Carbol. It has simply performed miracles for me. Four bottles have done more than months of travel abroad. I feel like a two-year old. I sleep eight hours every night and eat three good meals a day. My skin is like a baby's, free from blemishes of any kind and I have now almost forgotten that I have ever had such things as nerves. I want everybody who is illing to know about Carbol, because I have such faith in it. I believe it will cure any human ill."

Mr. J. H. Mc C. Carbol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money.

THE LAWLESS BOOTLEGGER OF THE WEST

Articles such as the one quoted below should rouse the public to enquire as to what latitude a public official is permitted:

"To the Editor Christian Guardian: Dear Sir,—Having just returned from a long patrol in the Crow's Nest Pass, the scene of the murder of Constable Lawson by the Italian bootlegger, Picariello, I thought it might interest you and your readers to get the concrete facts of the case. Constable Lawson had slightly wounded Picariello's son (near Blairmore), attempting to stop him with a car of whiskey. The father, who is known as the king of bootleggers throughout the entire Crow's Nest Pass, enraged by the wounding of his son, started in a car, accompanied by his son's wife, to the police barracks. They met Lawson outside and began shooting at him with revolvers. He started for the car and struggled with the assailants, but went down riddled with bullets, and the murderers drove away. Picariello is supposed to be worth $250,000, and has engaged two good lawyers to fight for him. The man on the street says that his money will get him off. The police say "No." If he does get off, then our Canadian law is a hollow mockery and a joke. It is up to the loyal Canadian people to back the police and the government in this case. The Crow's Nest Pass constitutes part of my 150 mile patrol, that I cover every few months on horseback. The many sullen foreigners hate the policemen, and they say there is open season on police the year round. Two years ago two constables were killed, this making the third one. This case has proven that a bootlegger is a dangerous criminal and must be subdued with an iron hand.

Yours truly,

Gustav H. Schoof,
Special Constable of the Alberta Provincial Police and the British Columbia Police."

There is scarcely a truth contained in the above article. In the first place Detective Schoof or no one else has the right to declare a person a murderer or criminal until such person has been given a fair trial or the court so decides. The shooting of Constable Lawson took place right in the heart of the town of Coleman, and why state "Near Blairmore?" One bullet only was found in Constable Lawson's body and the body was not "riddled with bullets" as Detective Schoof's CONCRETE FACTS would lead one to believe. The woman in the car was not the wife of young Picariello, and not even Picariello himself could state that he was worth $250,000. Further, Picariello never travelled in an armored car. And last, but not least, the statement that "the foreigners hate the policemen and say that there is open season on police the year around," should not go unchallenged. Such a feeling towards the police has never yet been suggested by any forsigner, save the author of the above article—Detective Gustav H. Schoof.

PIE VERSUS BEER

The language of the Eighteenth Amendment relates to beverage use, not to gluttonous abuse, says the Rev. John Cole McKim in the "North American Review." Doubtless two or three quarts of beer at a sitting might have a harmful effect. So might twenty pies. But neither would be a normal dietetic use. It would not surprise me to learn that there are, in the archives of the Anti-Salutary League, any number of statistics tending to show that the effect of keg parties are immeasurably more deleterious than those of pie-eating contests. I could not accept the conclusion, however formidable the data, except in so far as they might tend to prove (what needs no proving) that, of the two, the keg parties have been the more frequent and the more frequent. That is because intelligent people who know the difference prefer beer to pie.

Ike scratched his head and looked thoughtful a minute and said, "God, sir, I dunno. But my son, Joey, shot some kind of a damn thing back in the woods day before yesterday. Might be one of them."—Judge.

The dead body of a horse has been permitted to lay by the side of the road in the Frank Slide for several days this week. Who is responsible, we know not; but it seems rather strange that such a menace should be tolerated for several days, while if a party allowed a half pound of meat to decompose for a day or two on his property in a municipality some party healer would be despatched all the way from Edmonton to have that property holder pay a penalty.

Special services of prayer are being held each night this week at the Union church and are being well attended. The speaker on Tuesday night was Rev. J. Pinder, of Hillcrest; and last night the Rev. Harry Peters, of Bellevue. A full choir is in attendance each night. Tomorrow night's service will conclude the series.

The monthly meeting of the Sewing Circle of the Union Church will be held on Wednesday next at 2.30 p. m. in the church. All members are requested to be present and all ladies interested in the church are invited to attend, whether members of the Circle or not. Come and bring others with you.

There was no great ceremony attached to the opening of the new Lyon Creek bridge to traffic last week end, and the absence of the necessary wine is probably responsible for the affair being pulled off without a christening ceremony. The bridge is a fine structure and real monument to permanency.

Mr. Ernest Hinds met with an accident on Monday afternoon near the depot. When assisting to unload a large safe from a box car, the ekid tripped and Mr. Hinds was pinned against the car by the safe. Several men succeeded in extricating him, and it was for a time feared that very serious injury had resulted. Examination, however, disclosed that no bones were broken and Mr. Hinds is already at his duties.

Henry Walter, who for years and years has been chief overseer in the boiler-room of the Cosmopolitan hotel, has tendered his resignation. We understand that his formal resignation has been accepted and that Henry will leave to visit his old friend—the Kaiser—as soon as he can count up in German marks his amassed wealth since planking his feet on Canadian soil. Henry's wealth, figured in marks, will run away into the seven or eight figures, and if he retires and stays here to count and record these millions, he may never see Germany unless man's allotted time is extended to more than three-score years—and ten.
